

Out of School Time Essentials

Lives are changed where the work actually happens.

Most people underestimate the power of simple actions performed consistently over time. Every conversation, introduction, follow-up, post, prayer, appointment, and act of service creates momentum. Frontline Friendlies are the people who help the mission reach the world.

Who We Are

Out of School Time Essentials exists to make the hours outside of school count — helping programs, caregivers, and organizations create experiences where young people feel supported and inspired. The mission is simple: reach people and change lives.

Your Role

As a Frontline Friendly, you help carry out the day-to-day work that moves the mission forward — outreach, relationship building, promotion, support, fundraising, prayer support, appointments, referrals, content sharing, or commission-based opportunities. You're often the first connection people have with the mission. Not a paid employee position — a place to make a real difference.

The Bigger Picture

Imagine helping thousands of young people thrive in the hours that matter most. Some people consume. Some people contribute. A few people help build.

THE FINAL THOUGHT

The question isn't whether these hours matter. The question is whether you're willing to make them count.
